CASE IS DISMISSED.

Lewis Bell Is Discharged on the Complaint of Violating Sunday Law.

INFORMATION WAS FAULTY.

Did Not Stipulate Whether the Barber Cut Hair Or Beef
Steak

After the jury had been selected the case against Lewis Bell, charged with violating the Sunday law, suddenly ended this afternoon by Judge Coolidge dismissing the case and discharging the defendant.

The information, Mr. O'Hara held and the court concurred, did not allege whether the defendant was guilty of cutting hair or beefsteak. Local barbers are somewhat excited over the sudden turn taken in the affair.

The trial of Lewis Bell, the St. Joseph barber, complained against for keeping his shop open on Sunday, began this forenoon in the circuit court, and the case gives promise of being one of the fiercest struggles to occupy the court at the October term. Lawyer O'Hara appears for the plaintiff. He has given the case special attention and is prepared to make a strong defense. Mr. O'Hara is positive his client is not guilty of a violation of the law, according to a reasonable interpretation of the same, and if the trial ends in Bell's conviction the case will undoubtedly be carried up to the supreme court.

Two hours were consumed this morning in getting a jury. Lawyer O'Hara was careful to ascertain whether any of the members of that body had moral scruples which might prejudice them against his client. He made each juror commit himself as to his attitude regarding Sunday violations of the law, and before the panel was complete and acceptable four were challenged for cause and excused and five more excused on peremptory challenge.

A large number of barbers are in attendance upon the case. The result of the trial will probably settle for some time the question of whether the barbers of the two cities will open on Sunday. If Bell is convicted there will be a disposition to closely observe the Sunday law, and if he is acquitted the busy business man will have no trouble in getting a Sunday shave.

The trial of John Morgan, charged with larceny, was taken up this afternoon.

The trial of Sam Livingston was expected to come up among the first of the criminal cases, but upon the showing by Lawyer Sears that Livingston was unable on account of sickness to be present in court at this time, it was agreed his case should be among the last tried.

On motion of Prosecutor Valentine the name of Henry Tatro was added to the information against Frank B. and James A. Johnson, charged with violation of the liquor law.

Alfred Olson, accused of assault with intent to do great bodily harm, yesterday withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to assault and battery.

The assault and battery case against Timothy Talbot was interrupted yesterday afternoon by the fact of the defense not having any witnesses present. The prosecution had sworn Chief of Police Sterns, Dr. Tutton, Dennis O'Brien and Frank P. Graves, and then rested. It was approaching 4 o'clock and the case went over until tomorrow.

Archie Pool, colored, pleaded guilty yesterday to committing an assault upon Christopher Holland with the intent of doing great bodily harm. Pool waited until a jury had been impanelled and the prosecution had called the first witness before expressing a purpose to change his plea. He was accused of assault with intent to kill and upon the assurance of the charge against him being changed to assault with intent to do great bodily harm he declared he would plead guilty. His plea was accepted. Pool had no witnesses and his conviction seemed inevitable. The crime he is alleged to have committed is that of attacking Holland, an aged colored man, with a razor, in the Big Four yards in this city, July 17. I. W. Riford appeared as counsel for Poole.

Judge Coolidge this morning advised the jurors against conversing with people regarding cases pending in court and if any person persists in talking after the juror has informed his interview that he is a juror that person should be reported to the court. The habit of conversing with jurors leads to difficulty in getting a jury and the court insisted that it should not be continued.

Tomellier, charged with selling without a bond this morning,

Peter Peterson, charged with attempted murder. An order was entered granting the defendant the right to subpoena nine witnesses at the expense of the county.

OUR SHIPBUILDERS.

Many Will Be Given Work on Rebuilding the H. W. Williams.

The steamer H. W. Williams, operated by the Williams transportation company between South Haven and Chicago, will be brought here within a week and pulled out on the ways at Allmendinger's ship yard and be rebuilt at an estimated cost of $25,000.

The steamer will be lengthened thirty feet and the work will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Williams, who is now in the vicinity of Berrien Springs carefully selecting timber for the improvement. Mr. Allmendinger has the contract for pulling the boat out on the ways.

The steamer Williams is now laid up for the season at South Haven and its boilers are now being taken out. She will be towed here next week and the repairs will soon be under way. The rebuilt steamer will take her old run next season.

REACHING A COMPROMISE

Officials of Tunnel Line are Coming to Terms.

The officials of the Tunnel line are reaching a compromise and it is expected that by tomorrow there will be no objection to the opening of the safe. Several conferences have lately been held which have brought the unfriendly factions closer together and made a compromise certain.

A NEW STORE

Wallace Brothers to Open Business in Benton Harbor.

Wallace brothers, of St. Joseph, have rented the room in this city now occupied by Sherman's bazar and about December 1 will open a notion store, carrying cigars, tobacco, confections, fruits and novelties. The store will be in charge of Roy and Dudley Wallace, both enterprising young business men who have the advantage that a host of friends bring.

The store will be operated with an extensive line and will be made attractive with new fixtures and furniture, William Wallace having arranged for the purchase of the furniture yesterday in Grand Rapids.

WILL SUE THE COMPANY

W. R. Bard Threatens Legal Action Against Western Union.

W. R. Bard, of St. Joseph, has instructed Lawyers St. Clair and Davis to begin an action against the Western Union telegraph company unless that corporation pays him for the damage he is alleged to have suffered through its failure to deliver a message received for him.

Several weeks ago while Mr. Bard was a member of the St. Joseph police force a message was sent him from Chicago. He alleges that it was not delivered to him, but to Chief Stuckey, and when it did finally reach him it had been opened. He reported the matter to the head officials of the telegraph company and shortly thereafter was discharged from the police force. Bard claims that his discharge was irregular in that no hearing was given him as the rules of the metropolitan police regulations, which govern the St. Joseph department, require.

TRI-WEEKLY TRIPS

Boat leaves Benton Harbor at 8 o'clock and St. Joseph at 10 o'clock on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights for Chicago.

Arrives 60a.m. Chicago on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights at 11:30.

Arrives 7 P.M. St. Joseph

"None, how could you know that?"
The man said, "I'm the 'Terrible Deed'."
"About the terrible risk he took."
None, put the book on the shelf.
I believe I'll write a story myself."

"They're as easy to write as they are to read,
Stories like those in the bedtime book,
And I'll call mine 'The Terrible Deed'."
And have it a daring risk that he took,
And while I tell it you will write,
And we'll have the story finished tonight.

"No, I don't feel sleepy at all.
And I'm plenty warm with my arms out so,
And we'll say the man was very tall,
And he and his horse were lost in the snow,
And then at his door he knocks and knocks,
And we'll say that the man has craven locks."

"(None, I'll thank you not to say
That I am drowsy, and all like that.)
And the man kept knocking and knocked all day.

"(None, what are you laughing at?)
And he was hungry and cold and mad,
For the weather was stormy and very bad.

"Then in the darkness he saw a light,
And he followed it, and he fiercely strode,
And through the forest and through the night
It brought him home in a turn of the road.
Twas the stable door where he'd stood and stood.

For the house was farther on in the wood.

"Now is it finished? Let me see—
I'm getting so tired—that I forget,
But I'm wide awake as I can be!
I haven't thought of sleeping yet—
And remember—the light—was down the road—
And—the man—with the craven—locks—he strode."

Ended the story which all may read,
Like to the one in the bedtime book,
But lacking still the daring deed
And the terrible risk that the hero took.
And the sleeper hears in dreams the knocks
Of the hungry man with the "craven" locks.
—Mary Elizabeth Stone in Independent.

MR. HARBERTON.

"No, old man, of course I don't believe in spirits or nonsense of that sort. Yet something that I never quite understood once happened to me. You all know about that kind of thing, and perhaps you can explain it.

"After I left Oxford—without honor—I spent a lot of time loafing at home. It was a slow part of the country, nothing much to shoot, and mother, an invalid, couldn't stir out of her room.

"I didn't mean deliberately to deceive her, but what life is there for a healthy young man, stuck down there, hanging round a sickroom from one mouth to another? He must come to the surface to breathe, whether the air be wholesome or not. At first, when I cut for a day or two, I would call it business, but the master knew old Findlay had always managed the investments and the money and all that. So when I took a run up to town and didn't return at night I had to invent a friend and to pretend I had put up with him. That came as easy as lying always does. Only mother, who had little to interest her, insisted on hearing all the particulars—how my friend looked, what he said, and the rest. I got into a lot of tight places at the start, till I thought of a man I had known two years before, and kept to a description of him.

"Harberton was his name. He was cruising on the Mediterranean for his health when I was on the Saxon with the Blakea. He was a queer chap—believed in occultism and rot of that sort, and we all laughed at him for it. We never thought him ill, merely lazy. One moonless night, after dining on his yacht, we lounged on deck, with those myriads of stars making us feel jolly smart.

"Harberton lay on a steamer chair—he used to pass the night there—gazing at the sky with his inscrutable eyes. We had all been laughing and chaffing when he came on deck, but somehow the immensity of it all had sobered us, and we were quiet and solemn, when Harberton, pointing heavenward, said in his languid, affected drawl, 'Tomorrow I shall know what these have to tell.' We believed it to be merely one of his poses, but in the morning we were horribly startled by the news that he was dead. He had died lying there in his chair during the night.

"Well, Harberton's name occurred to me when I was forced to invent a story to satisfy mother, and, though I couldn't write a story to save my life, whenever I began jawing about him everything came quite pat. Often I blessed his memory when I could go off for a few days, have a good time and return to find mother quite pleased.

"This went on for awhile, till mother began to bother me with a request to ask 'my friend' to visit us at Frampton Glembs. I tried hard to get her off the notion. I said that he was busy or ill, that entertaining guests would hurt her, and all manner of things. But she seemed set upon it—talked nothing else. The doctor said it was a sick fancy, that in her weak state any craving must be humored.

"Thus cornered, I wrote a letter urging 'my dear Harberton'—I hadn't the remotest idea what his Christian name was—to come to us even for a day. Mother insisted upon adding a line—she who had not penned a word for months—begging him to come that she might have an opportunity of thanking him for his friendliness toward her son. I did feel mean when I took the invitation into another room and burned it.

"Next morning he was to arrive. I meant to fake up a telegram somehow, giving an excuse for his absence when I went to the station on pretense of meeting him. My mother was strangely well that morning. Her customary lassitude and pain had vanished. She was reclining on a couch drawn close to the open window. Her cheeks were almost rosy, and there was a lace arrangement over her white hair that made her look prettier than I had ever seen her. She was all impatience to see Harberton and hurried me off to the station half an hour too soon.

"Now, I don't believe what fol-

"...the old man, he was a...
...remembered for Harberton. This time there was but one. I caught a glimpse of his face at the window of a carriage where he sat alone, and my heart seemed to stop beating. A moment later he stood before me. It was Harberton. He was exactly as I remembered him.

There was nothing in his appearance or manner to account for the dread in me. We exchanged greetings, but no word passed between us. We traversed the leafy lanes as in a dream, but they and myself were visionary—he alone was real. And all the time the memory of the telegram I had omitted to send kept recurring to my half paralyzed brain.

"I knew it could not be Harberton, yet felt convinced it was none other. Dull wonder whether or not mother would see as I did ran through my mind, but I was in reality too stupefied to be capable of anything like consecutive thought.

"The path we trod led through the orchard into the rose garden, whereon the low windows of my mother's summer parlor opened. As we entered the garden she saw us—saw him—and waved her thin hand in welcome. And Harberton, or what I took to be Harberton, who till then had done nothing but make me dread his presence, waved in return courteously, almost gayly.

"I can't tell you how that day passed. It seemed like a long drawn out nightmare. I kept saying to myself: 'I am asleep. I shall awake soon.' Harberton sat in my mother's cool, darkened room, talking of me, as I gathered while pacing restlessly within and without or smoking in a chair outside the window. She seemed to speak anxiously about my future—I suppose, like most only sons reared by mothers, I had been rather wild—and he tried to reassure her. She was quite soothed and happy in his company. I moved about. I would go to the stables to speak to the men or wander aimlessly about, but there was ever that awful sense of all being an illusion. I fancied I must be mad, and I feared the sound of my own voice.

"Harberton went as he came, through the byways carpeted with moss and overhung with briar roses, still holding no speech with me, who followed dog-like. Midway down the lane the evening haze caught radiance from a shaft of the sunset, and into the glory of it he passed along. For a moment I dared not enter. When I did, he was gone.

"Well, in a short time I was able to laugh at the occurrence as absurd. Mother seemed to feel happy in some sort of a delusion. I didn't care to ridicule. She never asked me to send for Harberton again. She always said, 'When it is time, he will come.'

"She got more fragile daily. One night she looked so ethereal that, fearing to leave her, I sent the nurse to bed and staid in her room. All was hushed, and I must have dozed off, to be roused by mother's voice saying gladly: 'Oh, you have come for me! That is so good of you!'

"The light of the harvest moon filled the room, eclipsing the feeble glow of the night light.

"Mother had raised herself to a sitting position and was looking up eagerly, joyfully, her thin hands extended. Bending over her I saw distinctly the figure of Harberton. Starting forward, I rushed toward her, but before I could reach her side she sank back inert. Harberton had vanished, and the moonlight revealed only her dead face lying peacefully smiling on the pillows.

"That's a lot of years ago now, but I've never been able to reduce it to common sense. Can you, old chap?"—Black and White.

Queen Wilhelmina.

"It is impossible to realize that the little Queen Wilhelmina is now 17 years of age," said one of the clubwomen yesterday. "Like the little king of Spain, she is expected to remain a child, but in less than a month she will have completed her seventeenth year, and in another twelve months she will begin her reign. Already a husband for her is being discussed, indeed may even be chosen. The very stately official, speaking English with dignified deliberation, who showed us over the gloomy palace at Amsterdam a few weeks ago spoke of her majesty as a young lady. He told us that he had seen her grow up, as he had been 12 years an employee of the palace. The little queen lives most of the time at The Hague, but is obliged to spend some portion of the year at Amsterdam. The sojourn generally lasts but four days, and when one has seen the ugly, gloomy palace one is not surprised to hear it is not a favorite place of living. The old arsenal in Central park is as stately and elegant on the interior; the floors are alike in being wide boarded and somewhat dilapidated. Our cicerone at the palace explained that the rooms were dismantled at this time, but prior to the queen's arrival were clothed with rich carpets and hangings. In the throne room, he said, Wilhelmina holds audiences, herself seated upon the throne, with the queen regent standing beside her." —New York Tribune.

"This went on for awhile, till mother began to bother me with a request to ask 'my friend' to visit us at Frampton Glembs. I tried hard to get her off the notion. I said that he was busy or ill, that entertaining guests would hurt her, and all manner of things. But she seemed set upon it—talked nothing else. TWIN CITY TELEPHONE 172.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 27, 1897.

SOUTH Bend has begun preparing for a street fair to be held in October, 1898. Does it take Indiana people that long to get up a little celebration?

MAJOR Harrison of Chicago has incurred the sore displeasure of the radical silver men by making a trip to New York in the interest of the Tammany tiger.

THESE is a fellow at Dawson City who talks a good deal to the newspaper correspondents. He gives his name as Alexander McDonald. Same name as one of Sheriff Ferguson's escaped guests.

THE report is out that Charles T. Yerkes, the street car king, has bought the Chicago Inter Ocean. Another report is that the paper has been sold to a syndicate headed by Governor John R. Tanner. Both reports are denied. Color of truth is given to the reports from the fact that the editor, William Penn Nixon, is making a heroic struggle to get the appointment of collector of customs at Chicago without delay.

THE richness of the gold fields of Alaska is hard to measure. The latest report from the gold field is that under a boulder near Dawson City two men in a single day picked up $800 in coarse gold. The ground surrounding this spot is reported fabulously rich and the miners in the Klondike all passed over this rich deposit not knowing that the ground on which they walked was paved with gold. Recent discoveries propose the question if the richest mines are not nearer to civilization than the Klondike.

THE Hon. Thomas O'Hara was probably the best and most painstaking consul the United States ever sent to Nicaragua. He more faithfully performed the duties of the office and sent in more frequent and complete reports than any of his predecessors. Notwithstanding this fact he was removed by President McKinley before he had been in the service of the United States for a year. Things are what they are and in politics the victor takes the spoils while he pretends not to do it.

COW ATE A FOOTBALL

The Animal Not Able to Survive the Meal.

SOUTH KINGSTON, R. I., Oct. 27.—Charles G. Allen, a farmer, lost his favorite Jersey cow yesterday, and as the symptoms mystified the veterinary, an autopsy was held.

The animal became wheezy last night and in the evening, at milking time, she had kicked and bunted so desperately that weakness knocked her out and she fell in a heap in her pen. Allen sent for a veterinary and the two sat up all night and tried unsuccessfully to diagnose the puzzling disease. The doctor applied all sorts of remedies and occasionally the distressed animal would arise and kick like a mule, driving her attendants before her. Death followed soon after.

The autopsy revealed a football in the cow's stomach, and, remarkable to relate, it was partially blown up.

THE RESOLUTIONS PASSED.

Miss Frances E. Willard Again Unanimously Elected President of the Society.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 27.—The Woman's Christian Temperance union convention was brought to a close with a rousing platform meeting last night. The convention will long be remembered by white ribboners as the occasion of the best fight they ever fought to prevent any compromise of principle.

The United States delegates were largely in the majority and they stood determinedly together in their opposition to Lady Henry Somerset and insisted that the world's union should take no ambiguous or uncertain stand on the question of morality. They would not listen to any compromise on the matter. There was to be no code of manners for India that could not obtain in the United States. They insisted on passing a strong resolution touching this matter and they were supported from by most of the delegates from other countries.

The following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That now, as always in the past, we are unalterably opposed to any system or license or regulation of the social evil, and that we make our solemn protest against the legal voluntary or compulsory medical examination of either men or women when this is done in the interests of impure relations.

Resolved, That we call public attention to the fact that the desire and purpose of women as a class to retain their personal independence and purity of life is evinced by the hardships under which they persevere in earning their bread honorably, when the temptation meets them at every turn to secure it without labor at the cost of personal purity; and that we believe this instinct of a pure womanhood is a gift to the future mothers of the race, without which the race could not survive, and that in the great battle of the world not enough emphasis has been placed upon its sacred significance and its incalculable value in the development of mankind.

While recognizing this, we pledge ourselves to tenderest sympathy with and active work for our sisterhood who have lost the priceless jewel of virtue, knowing them often to be more sinned against than sinning.

Resolved, That we believe unquestionably in the theory of equality between man and woman, which is set forth in the first chapter of Genesis and supplemented by the assertion of Paul, that "In Christ Jesus there can be neither male nor female," and that, believing this, we pledge ourselves to constant effort by pen, by influence, by voice, by prayer, to bring in that good day when this equal "dominion" shall be recognized in the home, in the church, in law and at the ballot box.

That as followers of the Prince of Peace we are absolutely opposed to war or anything that fosters the war spirit, and that we urge upon our members everywhere the discouragement of the military drill in the public schools or in Sabbath schools.

The following general officers were re-elected unanimously: Miss Willard, president, United States; Lady Henry Somerset, vice president, England; Miss Slack, secretary, United States; Mrs. Sanderson, treasurer, Canada.

Subsidized Hotels In Norway.

Some friends who have just returned from a tour in out of the way parts of Norway tell me of a capital hotel system in vogue there which might be adopted with advantage in some parts of Scotland and Ireland.

In every village where no hotel exists some one of the more prominent inhabitants is subsidized by the Norwegian government, and in return is bound to provide accommodation for not less than four travelers.

He may take in more if he chooses, but four is the minimum.

My friends made frequent use of these subsidized hostelleries and are enthusiastic concerning the excellence of the accommodation and food supplied.

I did not gather whether the tariff was regulated by government, but I presume it is.

Anyway, the charges are absurdly moderate. Norway owes much of her prosperity to tourists, and she certainly treats them well.—Sketch.

LOCAL BREVIETIES.

THE two-year old son of I. P. Phares of Fair Plain is quite ill.

Holy Trinity branch of the Women's Auxiliary will meet Thursday afternoon with Mrs. C. H. Porter, on Cherry street at 2:30 o'clock.

THE Ladies' Aid society of the Universalist church will meet with Mrs. George A. Sahl on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, 147 Ohio street.

THE Ladies' Aid society will meet with Mrs. E. H. Kelley, corner Pipestone street and Jefferson avenue tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THE commissioned and non-commissioned officers of the Alger Guard will hold a meeting in Justice Graves office tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

THE ladies' aid society of the Church of God will meet at Mrs. G. Kimble's on Pearl street next Friday. All the members are invited to be present to work.

THE six-year-old daughter of B. Umphrey, Eight street, died last night of intermitent fever. The funeral will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THE Art league will meet with Mrs. Dr. Antisdale this evening and it is hoped every member will be present as the first regular program for the year will be rendered.

HARRISON Robbins, and Mrs. Nellie Knight, of South Bend, Ind., were married yesterday in Niles by Justice Richard Dobson, the witnesses to the ceremony being D. B. Cook and George Dutch.

THERE will be a concert for the benefit of the Second Baptist church at the church next Friday evening. Refreshments will be served in the basement and admission to all will be only 10 cent.

B. L. Hall, the hardware man, has started a Klondike expedition in the front window of his store. He has an engine and train of cars made entirely of hardware. On the engine is the sign "Klondike or Bust."

THE oyster supper given last evening by the Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church at the home of S. F. Curtis, Bellview street, was well attended, the ladies clearing a little over $5. They served oysters for 10 a dish.

The new car of the Benton Harbor & Eastman Springs railroad company occupied a position in front of the store of Herr Brothers last night and the fact is explained today by that firm on the ground that the company wants everybody to see the new stock of lamps at their grocery.

THE board of directors of the Alger Guard met this afternoon and elected the following officers: President, C. K. Farmer; vice president, A. P. Cady; secretary, Harry Pound; financial secretary, Albert Sykes; treasurer, H. U. Rapp; membership committee, F. P. Graves; J. H. Pound and C. K. Farmer.

ON his farm in Montana Justice Cady has dried this year 15,000 pounds of prunes. He received a sample of the dried fruit by mail yesterday and it is pronounced by good judges to be the best variety of dried prunes ever seen here. Doubtless Mr. Cady will order the fruit shipped to Chicago, where they will bring about $600 per car net. The recent blizzard in Montana has damaged Mr. Cady's fruit prospects to the extent of several hundred dollars.

THE many friends and patrons of Dr. J. C. Winslow will be pleased to learn of his return from the east, and in the future may almost always be found at his office, room 7, Bowman block, and as usual prepared to attend to the wants of the afflicted. The doctor's strict veracity, integrity and prompt and fair dealing, has won him a host of friends, and his skill and unequalled success in the management of the sick is fast bringing him to the front.

SIMON COMEDY CO.

A Strong Company Presented "An Off Night" at Conkey's Last Evening.

FINE BARITONE LADY VOCALIST.

Manager J. A. Simon Surrounded by a Company of Exceptional Talent.

The Simon Comedy company which appeared at Conkey's opera house last evening in "An Off Night," is by far the best repertoire company that has visited Benton Harbor in many years. It is in fact a company of artists.

This was the first appearance of the company since it was driven out of the south by the yellow fever several weeks ago, since which time it has been reorganized and strengthened until there is no better comedy company on the road.

J. A. Simon is easily the star. He is more at home on the stage than off and he does not impress one as an actor but as living in reality the part he assumes. Mr. Simon finds strong assistance in the Misses Anna and Maybell O'Malley, Mrs. Lillian Allen-Devere, Miss Mamie Simon and Messrs. Cal Williams, F. E. Thompson, A. R. Ethier and Billy Devere.

The O'Malley girls are pleasing vocalists and the songs they introduced captivated those who enjoy good singing. There was nothing frivolous or cheap in the words or music they used and they entertained the lovers of good music to a delightful degree. Miss Maybell O'Malley has a remarkably strong and sweet baritone voice and she was wonderfully pleasing in "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep." The hearty applause showed that the effort was not lost on the large audience.

The story of "An Off Night" is true to its name for it really was an off night. Sam Selwyn (J. A. Simon) had a handsome wife and a good home but taking advantage of his wife's absence he went out with "the boys" and during a scrimmage at a wine room where he was dining with another woman he traded hats with another man and he was worried to death because his name was in the hat he had allowed the other man to take. The bother of Sam was for fear his wife (Maybell O'Malley) would find him out and with smooth lying on his part and on the part of the negro servant (Billy Devere) Mrs. Selwyn was several times thrown off the track. Sam's daughter was in love and her lover mistook an old duffer (F. E. Thompson as Roscoe Blitters) for Sam, the father of his love. Old Blitters also had a daughter and he kindly consented to let the young man have the dear girl. This mistake called for a duel between the lover of Blitter's daughter and the young soldier who thought he had been accepted as the son-in-law of Sam Selwyn. When all the misunderstandings were straightened out the duel was declared off, the four lovers united and Mrs. Selwyn made to believe that her Sam never did a wrong thing in all his life. The three acts are piled full of wholesome fun and the audience was sorry when the curtain dropped for the last time.

The company is an especially strong one and Manager Simon is receiving congratulations. Mr. Simon is a manager of years of successful experience, and in the business department he has secured H. J. Bernard, who has been the manager of several prominent companies, and always a success. Miss Janette Mershon is the musical director and is an accomplished pianist. Billy Devere is the stage manager and Len Jordan master of properties.

This evening the company will play, "My Mother-in-Law" at Conkey's. Tomorrow night will be their last appearance here.

PRETTILY NAMED.

Rounds, Warner & Co., Name Their Summer Resort.

Rounds, Warner & Co., have selected a name for the summer resort they are developing at Yellow Creek where the firm owns many acres of land. The name adopted is "Somer Leyton" after the name of an English resort which once held especial charms for Mrs. Warner.

The company have almost completed the plat of the property, when lots will be offered for sale. Numerous applications have been received from would be purchasers, but until the plat was completed no sales could be.

HIS SUCCESSOR.

THOMAS O'HARA SOON TO BE RELIEVED OF HIS POST.

William B. Sorby, of Mississippi, Was Yesterday Appointed to Succeed Him.

President McKinley yesterday appointed William B. Sorby, of Mississippi, consul at San Juan Del Norte (Greytown) Nicaragua. This is the post which Thomas O'Hara of this city has held since the first year of Cleveland's administration. Mr. O'Hara's return home, it is expected, will not long be delayed.

C. M. EDICK'S WHEEL STOLEN.

Disappears from in Front of Peck's Furniture Store.

Bicycle thieves find a lucrative field for operation in Benton Harbor. Last evening between 5 and 6 o'clock C. M. Edick's bicycle was stolen from the sidewalk in front of C. J. Peck's furniture store on East Main street. It is a '98 Rambler, No. 16,825, enameled black. Mr. Edick left the wheel in front of the store shortly before 5 o'clock and when he went to get it to ride home to supper it was gone. The officers are looking for clews.

IN TWO WEEKS.

STREET RAILWAY CROSSING ON EAST MAIN STREET WILL BE IN

Big Four Company Will Begin at Once to Bring Its Tracks Up to Grade.

In two weeks it is expected the Benton Harbor & Eastman Springs street railway will have its tracks down over the Big Four and Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus lines on East Main street.

The Big Four company will proceed at once to bring its tracks up to grade with the street. They will not wait for the command from Commissioner Wesselius. Both the Big Four and M. B. H. & C. are disposed to permit of the crossing without further interference by the railroad commissioner. They have learned that the protection they demanded cannot be given and that if they desire to put in more tracks the expense of the crossing must be borne by them, an expense which they were disposed to have thrust upon the street railway.

The engineers of the three companies got together last night and decided on the kind of crossing to be used and no further difficulty is anticipated.

CASE IS SETTLED.

WORN OUT METHODS.

Disease of Women Can be Cured by a Simple Method.

Years ago it required weeks and months of wearisome travel to make a journey by the old methods of conveyance; the same destination can be reached now by a few hours of comfortable and easy travel, and the same vast difference between the methods and modes of our grandfathers is noticed in every branch of Science and Industry. Yet knowing of the great advancement made in every other direction hundreds still stick to the old methods of treating diseases and are persuaded by unwise counsel that the only way to reach and cure a disease, no matter where it is located is through the stomach.

In the treatment of Womb Diseases, Ovarian trouble, Painful or Irregular Menstruation, Leucorrhœa, Uterine Cancers or Tumors, and all the painful derangements that so often make Woman's life unbearable it is folly to continue the tedious method of trying to reach those troubles through the old channel; instead of taking strong nostrums that impair digestion and ruin the delicate organs of the stomach try MAGNOLIA BLOSSOM, Nature's gift to women. Thousands of women have cured themselves with this simple home treatment. It enables every woman to treat herself in the privacy of her own home; it is a soothing and healing Agent applied directly to the parts affected, and is a speedy and permanent cure for all ailments peculiar to women.

Ask your Druggist for MAGNOLIA BLOSSOM. If he does not keep it take no other but send direct to the Company for it. Price one dollar for a box containing one month's treatment.

"TOM TINKER'S KID."

Katie Putman's New Piece in Which She Will Star This Season.

Katie Putman, the favorite, is getting ready to start on the road with her new piece entitled "Tom Tinker's Kid," rehearsals for which will be commenced in this city tomorrow.

As usual this talented little lady has surrounded herself with an extra strong company embracing such well known actors as Leonard Mitchell, Bert C. Weston, Boston, Joseph Standish, New York, Lou E. Miller, New York, Ed Dallon, Detroit and other equally as well known to the theatre going public.

The company will open the season in the Beckwith Memorial theatre at Dowagiac and will no doubt crowd the house.

PROF. STEPHENS.

HAS GONE TO NEW YORK WITH MAYOR HARRISON.

And Will Try to Play Judge VanWyck, the Tammany Candidate, Out of the Hole.

Prof. R. J. Stephens, formerly of this city, is meeting with wonderful success and his musical talent is being very liberally appreciated in Chicago, his new home.

He has just left Chicago for New York city, being a member of the band which accompanied Mayor Harrison and his company of braves to the rescue of the Tammany tiger. The remainder of the week Prof. Stephens will spend in trying to play Judge Van Wyck into the inside track in the mayoralty contest.

Prof. Stephens has also taken the contract to furnish music at the weekly assemblies of the Woodlawn park club during the winter. These assemblies are in charge of Prof. McKee, who is well known here having held several successful dancing parties at Hotel St. Joseph.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Teetzel Celebrate Their Recent Victory.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Teetzel last night entertained the witnesses and attorneys who aided them to victory in the $20,000 damage suit, won in the federal court at Grand Rapids recently. Mr. and Mrs. Teetzel desired an opportunity to express their gratitude to the friends who assisted them, and with that end in view, provided the occasion which passed off so happily last night. The guests were entertained in a very hospitable and generous manner. Music was provided and a very elaborate dinner was served. The house was beautifully trimmed in flowers, and the hero of the suit, "Brownie," wore a blue ribbon, and his affectionate attitude suggested that he of all dogs would be the last to make a vicious attack upon a woman.

SMALL POX.

Three Cases in One Family at Bay City.

BAY CITY, Oct. 27.—Three cases of small pox in the family of Peter Trombley were discovered here yesterday.

NOT WITH TICE.

A affidavits to Show a Dowagiac Convict is Innocent.

DOWAGIAC, Oct. 27.—Among the many affidavits which are being presented to the supreme court in defense of Simeon Tice, now serving a sixteen years' sentence at Jackson for the burning of the Round Oak warehouse in March, 1895, are numerous ones showing that Robert Jennings, who was the main witness against Tice, was not with Tice on the night of the fire.

At the time Tice was convicted C. M. Eby, his attorney, made a motion for a new trial which was denied by Judge Coolidge, although the judge granted him an order to prepare the record and brief and submit the case to the supreme court, which has been completed, and the case will be decided at the December term.

Watson Patterson, an old soldier, who was bound over to the circuit court charged with arson, hanged himself in jail at Bellaire Monday night with a blanket. He had confessed that he was demented.

Ex-Policeman Elihu B. Farrington, of Battle Creek, while walking home Monday night, was shot by an Italian chimney sweep from Grand Rapids, who goes by the name of Fred Sweet. The ball entered his neck. He will recover. No cause is assigned except that the Italian was drunk.

TRIMMINGS AND GOODS.

Sashes and Braids—How to Sponge Goods and Linings.

Black satin girdles and sashes are much liked for young girls' costumes. The favorite sash is a wide black satin ribbon tied behind with long ends and no bows. This sash is seen with light and bright colored gowns. The renewed fashion for flat trimming has brought braiding into prominence again, and worsted and hair braids, in all widths and varieties, are largely employed. They are mainly used in black and white, although colors are also employed. Blue, green, purple and gray woolen costumes are trimmed with black or white braid very effectively, usually in horizontal lines unless the braid is formed into figures and motifs.

Goods which are going to be made up into serviceable gowns for general wear ought always to be sponged first, as in that case they do not shrink or spot with dampness. If they are not previously sponged, they soon become defaced and lose their neat appearance. Material may be sponged at home or at the shop where it is bought. In the latter case a small sum extra will be charged, but the trouble of doing it oneself will be avoided. Sponging is not an elaborate process. It consists of wiping the goods on the right side with a sopping wet sponge, folding the material together, rolling it up wet in a number of thicknesses of newspaper to prevent rapid evaporation and letting it lie for at least 24 hours. During that time the dampness becomes uniform throughout and shrinks it to a reasonable extent. When it is unrolled, it should be carefully pressed on the wrong side with a warm flatiron. When wooden or haircloth linings are employed, it is always best to shrink them, but a long process is not necessary. Simply sponging them with warm water and immediately ironing them dry with a hot flatiron is sufficient.

The illustration given in today's issue shows a cape of black satin. It just encloses the waist and is trimmed with a deep flounce of black lace, ending in black lace stole ends in front. The satin portion of the cape is cut in one with the flaring collar and is trimmed with lengthwise lines of jet, having also a satin borte bordered with jet. The collar is lined with black lace, made very full. The toque, of black and geranium colored chenille braid, is trimmed with black plumeria and pink and black flowers.

Dr. McDonald has for years made a study and specialty of chronic and lingering diseases that require skillful medical treatment for their cure. Such cases as family physicians fail to help and pronounce incurable are particularly solicited, especially those over-dosed with strong mineral drugs and poisons. Dr. McDonald uses only the purest medicines from the vegetable kingdom. He pays attention to the cause of the disease and instructs his patients the way to health and happiness. Dr. McDonald can show hundreds of testimonials in the hand writing of grateful patients who have been cured by him when others failed. He is so familiar with the human system that he is able to read all diseases of the mind or body correctly at a glance without asking any questions. Thousands of invalids are being treated daily for diseases that they do not have, while a few drops of medicine directed to the seat of the disease would give speedy relief, and permanent cure in a very short time. Good health is the most precious jewel in our crown of happiness. With it the world is bright; without it, misery claims us for her own. If you are a sufferer you should weigh well these words: A person who neglects his health is guilty of a great wrong to himself and a grave injury to humanity. The name of Dr. McDonald, the well-known specialist in the cure of chronic and lingering diseases, has become a household word in thousands of homes which his skill and wonderful remedies have made happy after all hopes were lost. The doctor is a graduate of the highest and best medical colleges, and his advanced theories in the treatment of chronic diseases surprise the most skeptical. All chronic diseases of the

ANOTHER DIPHTHERIA SCARE AT GALIEN.

A Peddler Hurting Galien's Trade
Should Be Made to Pay a License.

GALIEN, Oct. 27.—On account of a supposed case of diphtheria in town the school board at its special meeting Monday night ordered the school closed for the remainder of the week. The person suspected of suffering from the plague is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Burris. The principal of the school and assistant boarded in the family and upon the first suspicion they secured board with Mrs. Norris.

It is rumored that Galien is to have a new building on the lot occupied by the old hardware store before the fire. It is said the building will be stocked with dry goods by a South Bend firm.

The handle factory is running this week.

A fellow has been soliciting orders for groceries among the farmers in this township for several weeks. He pretends to sell them a trifle cheaper than they can be bought in town and not a few farmers have patronized him notwithstanding the fact that he pays no taxes and takes away money from this district that ought to have gone into the channels of local trade. He will make a general delivery here at the old bee hive this week.

The new grocery firm expects its stock the middle of the week.

The sawmill was run Monday of this week.

DISAPPOINTED.

朋友们对 THOMAS O'HARA DID NOT EXPECT HIS REMOVAL.

His Management of the Consular Affairs Have Been Very Satisfactory.

Hon. Thomas O'Hara, whose successor as consul at Greystown, Nicaragua, was appointed yesterday, will probably return some time in December. His removal is somewhat of a surprise to his friends. Considerable pressure had been brought to bear upon the president to keep Mr. O'Hara in the place he has so acceptably filled since December, 1894.

Petitions from most of the principal trade corporations of the United States, appealing to President McKinley to retain Mr. O'Hara, had been forwarded to Washington and it was thought these might have the effect of continuing Mr. O'Hara's administration.

His management of the affairs of his office has been eminently satisfactory to those most vitally concerned and there was a general feeling that he should be retained.

When he returns he will probably take up the practice of law with his brother, James O'Hara of St. Joseph.

SCHOOL NEWS.

Important Occurrences in the City Schools.

Mrs. Webb and Miss Collins, of the college, made the High school and eighth grade rooms very pleasant visits on Thursday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Owens visited the eighth grade at the Broadway on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Lenny Griffin, Carrie Ely and Lizzie Abbs entered the High school on Monday morning.

Truant Officer Crawford called at the Broadway Friday.

The Sophomore class held their meeting at the home of Fred Hinkley on Friday evening, the choir met for practice on Friday evening also.

The different classes will endeavor to supply the reading table by circulating a subscription list. It will be interesting to see which class succeeds in getting the most.

Fourth Friday again this week in all the city schools—teachers will spend the day very profitably with pupils who have been absent, tardy or who are meeting with special difficulties in their work.

Miss Moon was unable to take charge of her room on Tuesday afternoon.

A Simple and Easy Way to Clean Carpet
Rugs so They Will Not Fade.

To color carpet rugs so they will not fade, one should be sure to get the Fast Diamond Dyes for cotton. There are some twelve fast and special colors, while for wool there are about thirty. All of the Diamond Dyes that are marked fast will make colors that do not fade or crock.

It is impossible to get satisfactory colors on both wool and cotton with the same dye, although some cheap dyes that are able to make only a few colors, claim that their dyes will color both cotton and wool. A trial soon shows by ruined goods the falsity of these claims. Take nothing but the original and reliable Diamond Dyes that have been used in thousands of homes for the last twenty years.

French Cookery Dishes.

M. Geron, a Parisian grocer, captured a burglar who had entered his house. The man confessed that he was a waiter in a cafe. M. Geron was a frequenter of cafes and had often pondered on the mysteries of restaurant cookery. The opportunity was now offered to satisfy his curiosity. He made a compact with the waiter that if the latter would truthfully reveal the composition of certain dishes he would release him. In reply to the question as to the ingredients of chicken croquettes, the man mentioned every aliment except fowl, which was never employed. As regards a zambayon the revelations were of such a character that M. Geron "for the honor of France" declined to disclose them to the reporter. The waiter was instigated by the same patriotic sentiment when he was requested to give the formula for a goulache. This he positively declined to do, even to secure his liberty. M. Geron considered the refusal as a breach of the compact, whereupon he summoned the police. Zambayon is a term probably corrupted from salpicon, a ragout composed of meat and vegetables, and as such susceptible of any sort of clandestine treatment at the hands of an experienced restaurant cook. A real goulache, or gulasch, is a Hungarian composition made of rump steak stewed in a puree of tomatoes and onion, meat glace, butter and paprika. The obstinacy of the waiter in refusing to disclose the ingredients of this dish as served in Paris was probably inspired by professional prudence, which M. Geron, like all bourgeois, was not endowed with a sufficient sense of humor to appreciate.

Stoves and Ranges Used at Sea.

Stoves and ranges used at sea have two peculiarities. One is that the doors are made to turn down and not to swing and have fastenings to hold them securely when they are shut, so that they can't possibly fly open. The other peculiarity is in the rack on top. It is elevated four or five inches and runs around the edge of the stove to keep the pots and kettles from sliding off.

Some stoves and ranges used afloat are also provided with crossrods which run from the fixed rod at the back of the stove to the rod in front across the top of the pots and kettles and hold them down and keep them from shifting. They are used in very heavy weather or when the ship is rolling. For some reason these crossrods are more used on British than they are on American ships.

When a vessel is in port the front rail of the rack is usually taken out, and then the cook has an easy access to the top of the stove as he would have with a stove ashore.—New York Sun.

Keep the Mouth Shut.

As a guard to health old age needs, and, by the way, people of all ages as well need, to know that it is necessary to keep the mouth shut, for it was not intended for breathing purposes, the nose being essential to this purpose and having the advantage that it warms the air and strains from it irritating matters injurious to the lungs. Remember the mouth is exclusively needed as a port of entry for food and a port of exit for crystallized thought, the chief medium of communication between man and man. It is well for all to remember, though unfortunately the sick and suffering and the aged have especially to remember, that save in rare exceptions unkissed kisses are the best. The kiss is only good for family use, and since we know that more than 100 varieties of microbes have their home in the average disinfected mouth the aseptic kiss is the only permissible one anywhere.—Medical Mirror.
